From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Might Say The Birds Got "Nettled"

Had dinner with Tik Bradley the other day, and over a frosty mug of beer I found out about his job with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

"Now just exactly what do you do?" I asked him. "Shoot birds with a cannon?" he calmly replies.

Seems they actually do use a cannon to shoot out a net over a flock of birds feeding on the ground. The birds start to take off at the sound of the shot, but the net brings them back to earth, when they're banded around the leg so more can be learned about their migratory habits. Afterwards, they're let loose—and everyone's happy.

From where I sit, it was a good example of how when you learn the real facts they're often not as bad as they may sound at first. Like with people. Get to really know your neighbor and chances are you'll be more tolerant of his preferences—even though they're not your own. Take a good look, before you jump to conclusions.
